

Hello Phillip,

I have a couple of questions in regards to the upcoming tobacco licencing requirements.

1- If a retailer with multiple locations has a warehousing location where they receive product and distribute ONLY to their retail locations, are they considered a distributor and do they need a distributor licence?

2- If a retailer is ordering products to resell from out of state distributors, is this retailer required to register as a distributor? Is the out of state distributor required to register as a distributor in the state of New Mexico to sell to these retailers?

3- Online retailer. Plenty of online retailers in the Vape industry, are they required to register as a retailer if they sell online but do not have any physical retail presence?

Thank you for your time.
